Event times: 10:00 AM – 4:00 PM

Vendor setup: 8:00AM

Farmers Market Pavilion, 8th & Oak St.

Downtown Eugene, Oregon

What is Native American Arts & Crafts Market?

This market is a gathering of Native American artists and crafts who live in the Pacific Northwest. They are dedicated to preserving Native arts and cultures through a variety of arts and crafts. Our first Winter Market started in 2013. The market was a thought to bring local Native American community artists and crafters together to sell their creations to our local Eugene and Springfield communities during the winter holiday season. Now our market is expanding to the first Sunday of the month in June of 2023.

It is our mission to provide a supportive venue for the creativity of Native American artists and crafters in our area who create their own crafts and art individually or with their families. The artists and crafters come from a diverse representation of Tribal Nations within the United States.

The Indian Arts and Crafts Act of 1990

Native American Arts & Crafts Market abides by the American Indian Arts and Craft Act of 1990. All artwork and crafts sold at the Winter Native American Arts & Crafts Market is sold by the American Indian artist or crafter that they or along with their family have created.

Compliance with the Indian Arts and Crafts Act of 1990

Submitting an application to the Native Arts & Crafts Market indicates that you are conducting your business in compliance with the Indian Arts and Crafts Act of 1990 (see below.) Although we are not, at this time, requiring documentation of tribal identity, we do ask that you include your tribal affiliation in the indicated area of the application.

The Indian Arts and Crafts Act of 1990 (P.L. 101-644) is a truth-in-advertising law that prohibits misrepresentation in marketing of Indian arts and crafts products within the United States. It is illegal to offer or display for sale or sell any art or craft product in a manner that falsely suggests it is Indian produced, an Indian product, or the product of a particular Indian or Indian Tribe or Indian arts and crafts organization, resident within the United States. For a first-time violation of the Act, an individual can face civil or criminal penalties up to a $250,000 fine or a 5-year prison term, or both. If a business violates the Act, it can face civil penalties or can be prosecuted and fined up to $1,000,000.

Policies and Regulations

- Items must be handmade, grown, or gathered by the Native artist or crafts person.
- Items do not need to be “built from the ground up” but they should be significantly impacted by the work of the artist.

For example;

Examples of handmade work that would be accepted or rejected from the Market
ACCEPTED 😊	Commercially produced blank t-shirts on top of which the artist screen prints their own designs.
REJECTED 😞	A pendant purchased from a wholesaler and put onto a chain or piece of string to create a necklace.

- The product must meet basic expectations of product life, function and safety.
- Resale items (those bought at wholesale or from other vendors and marked up in price for individual sale) are not permitted including the sale of stones.
- Vendors with products from multi-level marketing companies are not permitted.
- No mass-produced items allowed.
- All artists and crafters of the products for sale must be present at the market.
- Bullying or threatening behavior at anytime will not be tolerated and will result in future exclusion from the market.
- The use of feathers or fur must comply with all State and Federal laws and regulations.
- Booth space is assigned by the Market Organizers.
- Minors must be supervised by an adult.
- Bring your own payment method (Square...etc)
- Each artist or crafter, even if they are sharing one booth space must submit an application for consideration to sell at this event.
- If you are unable to attend for the full event times, you will not be refunded.
